With the world facing adverse climatic changes, natural calamities, outbreak of diseases and fast-growing population, the result is volatility of supplies of foodstuff. This is very evident in recent years with supply crunch and the escalation of food prices.

The Singapore Ministry of National Development has identified this problem and has placed more emphasis on six of the essential products by strengthening the supply resilience for the Singapore market.

With the assistance and guidance of the Agri-Food and Veterinary Authority of Singapore (AVA), the Meat Traders Association (Singapore) (MTA) members are willing to participate in ensuring that we achieve the goal of continuity of supplies as well as maintaining price stability.

The MTA members will work closely with the AVA not only in terms of import of meat products from traditional sources but also looking into participating in the entire value chain – from food production to distribution. from farm to the table.

We are continually looking to increase the variety of meat products, including processed and pre-packed, such as pre-cooked and canned, that fulfil the AVA's health requirements from diverse sources.

Collectively, all the MTA members are committed to ensure sufficient supplies and maintain price stability of meat products in the Singapore market.

The MTA wishes to congratulate the AVA, the publisher and all those who have contributed to the success of this publication. The Singapore Agri-Food Business Directory is a useful guide for those involved with the food industries.
